

CSF RFID Pilot Project is now looking for producer co-operators

In response to BSE and the ripple-effect damages to the Canadian livestock industry, a federal and provincial task team is working with livestock industry to build a national agriculture and food traceability system. We are looking for co-operating producers who are keenly interested in working together to learn about new technology. For further information go to:

Canadian Sheep Federation web site www.cansheep.ca