

Producer/Sheep owner licence fee remittance form (private treaty sales)

Ontario Sheep Farmers (formerly the Ontario Sheep Marketing Agency or OSMA) is run by producers for producers. Funded through a check-off (licence fee) on lamb and sheep marketed in Ontario, Ontario Sheep Farmers was created to be the advocate and voice for producers. Representing the sheep, lamb and wool industries, it was established in 1985 under the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act. A compulsory check-off (licence fee) of $1.80 per head sold or slaughtered in Ontario is payable to Ontario Sheep Farmers to fund projects and operations supporting the Ontario sheep marketplace. Check our website (www.OntarioSheep.org) to see your licence fees at work.

Auction markets, livestock agents, and processors are to deduct the check-off fee from the proceeds payable to a seller, and processors must also assess the licence fee in addition to the slaughter fee. This fee is applicable to each sale or slaughter transaction.

Private sales (e.g. sheep owner to sheep owner sale, sales not done at an auction market, nor to an agent or processor) require licence fee self-assessment and reporting via this remittance form.
